Lease Financing

Use Assets Without Owning Them!

What is Lease Financing?

- A long-term rental where the lessee uses the asset while the lessor owns it, with regular payments instead of a full purchase, commonly used for 💻 IT equipment, 🚗 vehicles, and 🏢 property.

Types of Leases

Operating Lease

Short-term use, easy to cancel, no ownership risk.

Financial Lease

Long-term, lessee bears risks, can gain ownership.

Leveraged Lease

Involves third-party financing for large assets.

Who’s Involved?

Lessor
The legal owner of the asset who leases it out to earn income.

Agreement
A contract that specifies payment terms, lease duration, rights, and responsibilities of both parties.

Lessee
The user of the asset who pays periodic rent for using it.

Key Features
